

Duncan Court 6-Year Chant: No Comment

By PETER BRUTON

Opposition leader Robert Strachan last night failed for the sixth year in a row to elicit any information as to plans for the long-promised new courthouse for Duncan.

Works Minister W. N. Chant would only say:

That's a far cry from what the minister promised a Duncan audience during the 1956 provincial election time.

He pledged that an actual start on construction of a new courthouse would begin within 12 months of that date and he said Mr. Strachan—the member for the Cowichan-Newcastle riding—had been derelict in his duty for not bothering to ask the government for its plans in preceding sessions.

BAV'N'T MIRR'D

"I haven't missed asking one year since," said Mr. Strachan yesterday.

The minister wouldn't reply to Mr. Strachan despite the fact that question after question was asked him.

"Haven't any work been done?" begged Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Chant confounded with an aide.

CAME TO RESCUE

"You," he said. "We improved the parking facilities."

Premier Bennett then came to the rescue of his floundering minister.

"No member of this House should try to put a minister on the spot," said the premier. "He can advocate something, but he should not try to force a commitment."

MADE COMMITMENT

"I'm merely asking him to fulfill a commitment he made in 1956," said the opposition leader. "He's already made the commitment—he made it six years ago."

Mr. Strachan again took up the matter after the supper adjournment.

"Good fishing up there," chuckled Mr. Chant.

SHOCKING

"What about a courthouse?"

"No more comments," said the minister.

"Well, would you just repeat what you said before?"

"I can't remember what I said," was the reply.

"I think this display by the minister is absolutely shocking," Mr. Strachan stormed.

"It's absolutely reprehensible. He doesn't deserve his salary."

Arrest of Leaders Hinted As Syria Swings to Left

DAMASCUS (AP)—The army said Wednesday night land reform reversals, pork barrel tactics and infiltration of the government by imperialist agents forced the coup that has placed Syria under military rule for the second time in six months.

There was a hint that at least some members of President Nasser's conservative regime, deposed early Wednesday in an uprising that Radio Damascus called bloodless, were under arrest.

Such a non-aggression pact was the subject of discussion at a future summit conference, he said in a foreign policy debate in the House of Lords.

Syria's 5,000,000 people were warned to remain calm, that force would be used to crush any disturbance.

A revolt by the armed forces severed Syrian ties with President Nasser's United Arab Republic last September.

The army's high command reiterated that its objectives include "the establishment of constructive Arab socialism" at home and, in foreign affairs, alignment combined with Arab unity on a clear basis, "especially with beloved Egypt and brotherly Iraq."

Long Session Ends Today

The nine-week legislative session, longest in two decades, will end at 8 p.m. today with prorogation by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes. Premier Ben Neill said last night. Last night's sitting ended shortly before midnight. MLAs will clean up opposition motions and bills at 2 p.m. today.

Father's Helping Hand Put Police on Heels

There are days, thinks Archie Logan of 803 Heywood, when things just don't turn out right.

Monday evening he was delayed in town after work, so decided to pick up his son David when the boy ended a Wolf Cub session on Dallas Road.

BITE TO EAT

The boys were still in when Archie arrived, but he saw David's bicycle and put it in the trunk of his car. Then he realized he had some time left, so went to a drive-in for a bite to eat.

When he returned, he met young David on the street, told the boy his bike was in the car and to hop in.

"Oh, dad!" David exclaimed. "The police are looking for you."

Choked Bride 'Stole My Son'

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Clementina Corona has been charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation March 17 of her 19-year-old daughter-in-law. Police said she felt the younger woman had "stolen" her son.

A man identified as John Griffith, 42, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., admitted that he helped commit the crime and he was booked on the same charge, police said.

The victim, Mrs. Elizabeth Corona, was found lying on the floor of her apartment by her husband, James, 23.

District Attorney Leonard Rubinfeld said the older Mrs. Corona had approached Griffith on March 9 and asked if he wanted to make a "quick" $1,000.

Rubinfeld said the mother told Griffith she wanted to get rid of her daughter-in-law because "she took her son away."

On the appointed night, Griffith allegedly entered the victim's seventh-floor apartment through a door that was left ajar by the mother-in-law. A struggle ensued and the mother-in-law helped Griffith strangle her, he said.

Assets Would Vanish

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Electric assets could be used to absorb the debts of the government's B.C. Power Commission if the planned merger of the two goes ahead, British Columbia Court of Appeal was told Wednesday.

Douglas M.K. Brown, counsel for B.C. Power Corporation in its battle to have the expropriation of BCE by the government ruled invalid, said that the merger could make worthwhile any court ruling that the take-over was illegal.

DEAPPEAR

He said that could mean that the BCE assets would "disappear" in the merger so that the government, even if it was ordered to hand back the BCE to B.C. Power would have nothing to hand back.

B.C. Power is opposing an appeal by BCE and the attorney-general against last week's Supreme Court ruling that a receiver should be appointed to protect BCE assets until present lawsuits are settled.

Sweepstakes

'Dream' Led To Ticket

DUNCAN carpenter Albert Dakin is the latest Vancouver Islander identified as having a chance at Irish sweepstakes riches on the Grand National sweepstakes lottery.

Mr. Dakin, 36 McDonald, who is cheering for Belfast, disclosed yesterday he bought the ticket after his daughter, Alma, 14, dreamed he won the sweepstakes.

Eighteen Islanders, 12 of them from Victoria, still are in the running for the big money after the final scratch-off ticket was issued yesterday.

The residents, many of them fanatical followers of the Secret Army Organization, have been virtually imprisoned in their homes since a battle in Bab el Oued last Friday between French forces and the Secret Army commandos assaulting the Moslem soldiers and warning: "All our armed operations henceforth will be acts of justice... nothing and no one will stop us."

ALGIERS (AP)—French authorities said Wednesday night the 50,000 residents of Bab el Oued will be free to leave their homes this morning for the first time in six days.

Yes, I should be grateful, but I'm not. I should say "thank you" cheerfully to the man who brushes dandruff off my shoulders, or takes the trouble to adjust my collar. Instead, I say, "Get your hooks off my clothes, please. I don't need a valet."

The volunteer valet means well. He is only trying to help. But I don't appreciate it. The fact is that I am angry with myself for letting dandruff out.

Drug Institution Set at Abbotsford

OTTAWA (CP)—A site has been selected adjacent to the Abbotsford, B.C. airport for a $4,000,000 narcotic drug institution, Justice Minister Fulton announced yesterday.

Mr. Fulton said the institution, which will accommodate 400 men and 150 women convicted of offences against the testing has been completed.

Gardener Cleared Of 'Rustling' Military Plants

Landscape gardener Hans Molholm, 1170 Tatter-sall, was found innocent of a charge of "plant rustling" yesterday.

Molholm, a commercial gardener working on contract with the national defence department, had been charged with theft because he removed 1,500 to 1,600 hypericum plants from national defence property at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, and planted them on another piece of military land at Rocky Point.

An Assize Court jury of nine men and three women found Molholm not guilty of theft.

Molholm said he had moved the plants to Rocky Point to replace some plants which had died of thirst because they had not been watered.

He said he had no obligation under his contract to replace the plants, but did it as a favor. He said he believed that Maj. William H. Coull, engineer supervising contracts, had given him permission to move the plants. But Maj. Coull testified that he had advised him to get permission from Bromley David Quinn, head gardener.

Defense counsel Dan Cameron argued that "wrongful taking" did not necessarily mean theft. If Molholm thought he had permission to move the plants, he would be guilty of theft.

The defence called witnesses to show that there had been exchange of plants between naval establishments at several other times.

Possession Trial Begins

Trial of Richard Gray and Robert George Gibb, no fixed address, on two charges of possessing stolen goods and a charge of possessing burglar's tools opened yesterday in Assize Court.

Charges are possession of a drill and power pack stolen from The T. Eaton Co., a quantity of cigarettes stolen from Oak Bay Boathouse; and housebreaking instruments—a screwdriver and rubber gloves.

Gray, conducting his own defence, challenged 12 jurors, and defence counsel David Hummel, representing Gibb, challenged nine before a jury was empannelled.

An accused person or his counsel is allowed 12 "peremptory challenges"—meaning that he can reject a juror without giving a reason.

'Good Father' Given Break

A man convicted of breaking and entering was ordered yesterday to abstain from alcohol and report regularly to the probation officer for a year.

Magistrate William Oster gave a suspended sentence to James Cousins, 2 Maple Avenue, Sooke, for the breaking and entering of a service station at Gorge and Garbally.

The magistrate noted Cousins had no previous criminal record and remarked on a probation officer's report that the convicted man had been a good father to his two children.

"You have done a great disservice to your children," he said.

Ball of $500 each was set for Walter "Bud" Graham, 18, and Bruce Garfield Tennant, 18, charged with the breaking and entering of Jeffree and Jeffree, 2507 Government Street, Tuesday. Both pleaded guilty.

This represents a decrease from the January total of $11,661.50.

Your Good Health

Infection First, Covers Next Check List for Night Sweats

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 16, has night sweats. He goes to bed about 9 o'clock. When I check him about 11, he is wet from head to toe. I keep his room on the cool side. I would like to know the cause.—G. R.

Assuming that the young fellow is in good health, I'd say that the most obvious cause is too many covers.

It's easy to become over-concerned about keeping children warm. Over-dressing a child can do as much mischief as giving him too little covering. The sweating, followed by a chilling, can be a shock to the system. And health, of course, is a matter of avoiding as many of the small hazards as possible.

Let's say the boy plays again just before bed. If, after around the house in shirt, pants, shoes and socks and underwear. Then it's bedtime. You wrap him in flannel pyjamas, then you cover him with, let's say, two blankets, or a blanket and a quilt.

You say his room is "on the cool side." Meaning what—five degrees cooler than the rest of the house, perhaps? But you've covered him with perhaps five times as much thickness of bedding as of daytime clothing.

FAKE TEMPERATURE The foremost cause of night sweats (other than too many bedclothes) is some sort of infection that brings periods of fever. To guard against that chance, I'd take the lad's temperature at, say, 4 p.m. and again just before bed. If, after the forenoon, he has a fever, then give a hard look at the amount of bedclothes.

Dear Dr. Molner: I know a man who has a lot of good qualities but he has stomach trouble, sour stomach, diarrhea and gas. He eats most of his meals in restaurants, which probably means greasy food, and his eating habits on weekends are very irregular because he drinks so much beer. When he comes to see me he periodically releases gas. He says he can't help it because he always has stomach trouble. Can he help or control it?—M. R.

Excessive beer drinking can cause excessive gas. I would think the problem can be corrected and controlled if the gentleman makes an effort.

Biggest Wheat Deal Closed with China

Senator Urges Protest

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republican, said Wednesday he hopes the U.S. government will protest strongly against Canada's new sale of wheat to Communist China.

"It is incomprehensible to me why Canada persists in pursuing such a course," the member of the Senate internal security subcommittee said in an interview.

STANDUP
"There is no doubt in my mind that if it came to a real crisis, Canada would stand with us. But history has shown that if you continue to build up a potential enemy, eventually you are not able to appease it."

AHEAD OF PRINCIPLES

"It breaks the strength of the free world when certain allies are willing—for dollar gain—to put that ahead of principles in which we all believe."

A state department official said the department has no comment on the wheat sale.

Heath Urges Consultations Before Entry

LONDON (CP) — Edward Heath, Britain's deputy foreign minister, said on his return from Ottawa Wednesday there should be "full Commonwealth consultations" before Britain decides whether to join the Common Market.

"I believe the Canadian government is satisfied with the way negotiations are being carried out," Heath told reporters at London Airport.

He denied reports that he asked the Canadian government for a list of exports in the order of expendability for Britain's guidance in the elimination of tariff barriers which would be involved in Common Market membership.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has sold another $75,000,000 worth of wheat to Red China, Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced Wednesday in the Commons.

It is the sixth and largest in the string of sales resulting from the long-term credit agreement completed between the Canadian Wheat Board and the Communist Chinese a year ago.

Later it was learned reliable sources outside the Commons that confirmation of another major grain sale to China is in the offing.

The latest deal involves slightly more than 39,000,000 bushels of wheat and 26,000,000 bushels of barley.

Most of the wheat involved in the new sale will be moved from west coast ports between June and December, Mr. Hamilton said. It would assure a steady volume of exports from Vancouver for the rest of the total sales to date under the year.

Diverted to Europe?

He said 5,600,000 bushels will be shipped from Atlantic and St. Lawrence River ports, in making his first appearance since an illness forced him to bed two months ago. MPs of all three parties welcomed him with prolonged desk-thumping applause.

A-Test No. 23

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States conducted another low-yield underground nuclear test Wednesday at its Nevada testing site. This is the 23rd announced test since the U.S. resumed testing.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons last month these diversions are permissible if they are to "certain countries which are not regular commercial markets for Canadian grain."

Sale terms under the agreement, which provides for eventual purchase of 185,700,000 bushels of wheat and 45,700,000 bushels of barley, are 25 per cent in cash on delivery and 273 days' credit, with interest.

Earlier this week Veterans Minister Churchill told the Commons that China is paid up to the current month in her credit installments.

It was a memorable day in the House for Mr. Hamilton.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nikita of the Russian federation yes—"a very instructive story" Khrushchev says that if sheep could talk they would complain that Russian farmers are maligning them.

Moscow radio Wednesday carried portions of Khrushchev's remarks to the Communist party central committee.

The Soviet premier also told about a certain Comrade Galban, a tractor-driver and crop, collective farm leaders, mechanic who grew "a good harvest" without using any manual labor at all.

The radio said Khrushchev told his listeners that when Galban was asked what he was going to receive to do with it he said:

"I want to buy a motorcycle with a sidecar. I have been dreaming about doing so for very long time... Now I shall rear one or two hogs. I shall then sell them and buy my motorcycle."

"A very good wish," commented Khrushchev.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

BY TOM TAYLOR

WITH people either afraid as atomic bomb may drop on them while they sleep, or, alternately, doing the Twist to forget their worries, not much thought is given to the astounding growth of the world's human family.

Enough for the day is the evil thereof, perhaps.

Yet Victoria youngsters scampering carefree on school playgrounds will in their senior years be caught up in the living maestress of human men. Their will be problems now given scant attention.

Currently the world population is about 3,000 millions.

According to a pamphlet on the subject issued by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, this number will be almost doubled by 2,000 AD. Even in an age where millions are tossed around with nonchalance in both business and government these figures are hard to grasp.

But imagine for example the number of motor vehicles in Victoria doubling overnight.

Of course everyone in the world won't have a car and automobiles may be the least of the world's worries 40 years hence.

Four years is not really far off, however; some of you reading this may experience the human deluge that demographers say is inevitable unless human fertility can be curbed. In any event so vast an increase in world population will have grave social and economic consequences.

Growth rates of today are unique in man's history, the pamphlet points out. In 1850 the world total was 545 millions; by 1900 it had reached only 1,000 millions. In this century alone, a mere 60 years, the acceleration has added nearly 1,000 millions. Except for brief periods in the past in small areas the average rate of population growth was only a fraction of the present estimate of 1.7 per cent natural increase.

The biggest factor in this proliferation of the human family, except for unrestrained procreation in some lands, has been man's success in sanitizing measures and the advance of medical science. Diseases are held great in check. More people live to older ages.
Whereas the expectancy of life when and where the Roman Empire held sway was from 25 to 30 years, now the expectancy in western countries is of vital interest.

Mr. Bennett must have the figures at his fingertips, for certainly the power authority or its component parts must have been told what the government intends to do in this respect so that the reduced power rates promised for April 1 could be worked out.

Why then should councils have to wait and wonder?

Why the Waiting?

BRITISH COLUMBIA municipalities, particularly Victoria and Vancouver, have grounds for complaint about the vagueness of the provincial government's plan for payment of grants in lieu of taxes by or on behalf of the new Hydro and Power Authority.

Premier Bennett has said that for the first year of operation at least the new authority will pay taxes on a grant system, and that a study of the situation is planned.

But the municipalities are still left in the dark:
they have no official word on the degree to which this year's grants will approximate the taxes and grants previously paid by the B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric Company. And at this time of year, councils are budgeting, and such information is of vital interest.

Mr. Bennett must have the figures at his fingertips, for certainly the power authority or its component parts must have been told what the government intends to do in this respect so that the reduced power rates promised for April 1 could be worked out.

wonder?

Less Than Honest

CAPTAIN GROOS, the Liberal candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich riding, says Canada should declare herself a non-nuclear power and make no use of nuclear weapons. This would mean breaking her word to the NATO defensive alliance but the argument might be understood if carried to a logical conclusion.

He does not so carry it, however. He has no objection to Canada being the locale of nuclear weapon employment, an obvious contradiction.

While abjuring the use by Canadians of nuclear defensive devices he suggests that Americans should be allowed to put nuclear weapons on Canadian soil.
Such a hairline distinction would be unlikely to persuade the world that Canada is a non-nuclear power.

Soviet Russia, for instance, if embroiled in active major conflict with the U.S., could scarcely be expected to appreciate such a fine nuance.

No doubt of course this would enable Canada to wash its hands as did Pilate on another occasion of moral responsibility, since we wouldn't actually touch the nuclear weapons ourselves. We would merely sit back and let someone else make use of them in our territory.

That would be less than an honest attitude, and it is strange to have it advocated by a former naval officer of competence in that realm. Or by anyone else for that matter.

The City Changes

THE THEME of "Old England" is still pursued by the tourist trade to lure visitors to the city and it is a magnet not without merit. Lingering traces of the character stamped on this community by British expatriates remain to give it a flavor all its own.

Yet in fact the local scene is becoming cosmopolitan to a degree that could scarcely have been envisioned even so recently as just before the last war. Tongues and mannerisms then strange to hear or observe are now commonplace, and various ethnic influences now merge in the generality of local activities.

At a naturalization ceremony held yesterday for example no fewer than 12 nationalities were represented, the candidates in the main coming from differing European countries. This has been a continuing feature in the postwar years as newcomers to the city have settled here to make their life and mark.

They have brought with them also fresh skills and aptitudes to leaven existing ways and habits, and to add to the changing patterns of society that have evolved since the war.

Actually a new Victoria is being born, one rich in potential as differing cultures become intermingled.
One hopes that the basic virtues stemming from its early British legacies will remain as the core of its character, but these are now colored by the cosmopolitan nature of the Victoria scene.

As in other Canadian centres a fresh amalgam is in process and increasing the tempo of human affairs. A new Canadianism is being fashioned.

Simple Fact

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the great advantages we have given Communism during the past 40 years is that we have allowed the discussion of it to take on a large, learned, scholarly character, almost like theological discussion. This has naturally obscured the bare simple facts.

And the simplest fact of all as plain and bare as the bones of a skeleton, is that Communism promises to deliver, as no former political system ever succeeded in doing, the workers, the masses, what they call the proletariat, bound, hog-tied and absolutely helpless, for the amazement of the masters. The stupid capitalists of mid-Victorian times, the greediest industrial barons of the Gay Nineties, in his wildest dreams, never imagined anything as perfidious

New Life for Railways?

Riding on a Layer of Air

By JOHN DAVY from London

THE future of the hovercraft in Britain is exercising the imagination of several firms. Hovercraft people are already talking seriously about 1,600-ton ferries skimming across the English Channel at 100 knots, carrying 200 cars and 1,500 people, which could be operating in three or four years. By 1970 a trans-Atlantic hovercraft which could reach New York from Southampton in 24 hours may be feasible. The fares would be considerably lower than by air.

In more modest vein, anyone who happens to be in Bognor Regis, Cheshire, this summer will be able to pay £1 and cross 15 miles of the Dee Estuary to Rhyl, North Wales, in 20 minutes — by hovercraft. This will be the first commercial appearance of these unique machines, first conceived by a Norfolk engineer, Christopher Cokerell, eight years ago.

British United Airways will operate the Dee Estuary passenger service, using a 24-seat hovercraft built by Vickers Armstrongs. Their main aim is to gain experience and to acquaint the public with the possibilities.

The future for these craft is beginning to look very interesting indeed. Supported on cushions of air, they can skim over water and reasonably smooth land surfaces as fast as cars or trains, and larger models will be able to accumulate sand on the open sea.

The Dee Estuary service will provide a 20-minute flip instead of a two-hour bus journey.
Another firm, Southdowns Motor Services, is planning hovercraft routes along the South Coast. Brighton to the Isle of Wight will take 40 minutes — compared to two and a half hours by car and ferry.

Patent rights in Mr. Cokerell's invention are held by Hovercraft Development Ltd., a company set up by the National Research and Development Corporation to exploit the idea. Licences have now been granted to a number of firms, including Saunders Roe, Vickers Armstrongs and Denny Brothers, who are all building their own versions.

Saunders Roe at their Isle of Wight works are now building their third hovercraft, the biggest yet, which will carry 118 passengers at 20 knots. Denny Brothers are building a "Hoverbus," a ferry-type craft which will carry 80 passengers at 25 knots. The services are also beginning to take an active share in development.

The earth can sustain itself yet for a long period of time.

The problems to be solved with 8,000 millions of human heads to be counted by 2000 AD comes round and round.

The breaching of the social, political and economic barriers that presently prevent an even sharing of the world's natural riches.

That is the crux which vibrates upheavals having a direct impact on the destiny of children now romping happily in most every land.

Such a train might travel at speeds up to 300 mph. It could travel from London to Edinburgh in one and three-quarter hours (present time by rail approximately seven hours), the same travelling time as would be needed using jet aircraft between airport and the city centre at each end. A 150-seat Hovertrain could carry 1,200 passengers between London and Edinburgh in a working day, the same as a 600-seat express train.

There may be all kinds of cargo-carrying applications.
Small ports, which have great difficulty in keeping channels clear of silt, could simply allow the sand to accumulate, and allow hovercraft freighters to come skimming in over the sandbars.

But one of the most exciting prospects is the "Hovertrain," which is now the subject of a program of basic research by Hovercraft Development Ltd. The Hovertrain would run along a special track of concrete or metal, shaped like a shallow "U." Pairs of joints underneath the Hovertrain would form air-cushions so that the train would run along the track supported on an inch or two of air.

At these high speeds, the track would have to be dead straight, or only very gently curved. This would be no problem in open country. In towns, the Hovertrain would have to reduce speed somewhat.

If these studies continue to look promising, a short test track might be built, for instance, between London and London Airport. A longer length could then be built on a busy route like London to Birmingham.

The grand attraction of the Hovertrain is that it allows transport on tracks to climb up gradually, and compete effectively with short-haul airlines and helicopters.

For inter-city transport over distances up to 300 miles, the Hovertrain should be able to fend off all competitors. This would bring new life to existing railway systems all over the world which are at present being squeezed to death between the motor car and the aeroplane.

If a Channel tunnel or bridge is built, a Hovertrain could run from London to Paris in an hour and five minutes.

Much of the track could be built above existing railways. The Hovertrain would be able to climb quite steep gradients, as it would probably go over hills instead of through tunnels.

At these high speeds, the track would have to be dead
straight, or only very gently
curved. This would be no problem in open country. In towns, the Hovertrain would have to reduce speed some-

Washington Calling

Fight Over the RS-70

By MARQUIS CHILDS

EVER since General Eisenhower uttered his warning, on the eve of leaving the presidency, about the threat of the domination of what he called the military-industrial complex, the power of that complex has become more apparent.

Nothing quite like the pressures applied on the administration to back down in its opposition to what would eventually be the B-70 bomber, had been seen in this capital for a long time.

The agreement by the administration to give careful study to the recommendations of the House Armed Services Committee means a truce but it is not the end of the war.

On one side of the struggle is the air force, big industry representing payrolls in a number of states and a great many members of Senate and House who represent those states. On the other side is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, backed by the Secretary of the Air Force, General Curtis LeMay.

Both sides have a piece of the RS-70 project. One of the few things that has been agreed on is that the B-70 will be stopped.

Already $1.3 billion has been committed for development of three prototypes of the reconnaissance-strike plane and nearly a billion has been spent on the RS-70 to support it.

The plane is flying at 2,000 miles an hour, can send back photographic data for a second and follow-up nuclear strike. It would also carry sky-boats which could be fired on targets from a distance of several hundred miles.

McNamara doubts that the plane as presently conceived could possibly carry the contemplated equipment still on the drawing boards.

The air force has pushed a campaign back the conviction not only that the RS-70 is feasible but that it is essential to the nation's defense. Clearance officers in the Pentagon were astounded to get a paper prepared by the air force for a Republican congressman attacking McNamara's position.

On the other side, the Senate Select Committee on Aeronautical Research and Development has been told that the plane is not needed and that the money could be better spent elsewhere.

As for McNamara, he has never had the slightest doubt about his view that to produce the B-70 — or the Reconnaissance Strike 70, as it has become known — would be a political surrender to the demand for jobs and industry contracts.

Last May, as he began to get a grip on the assignment he had taken on, he said to a close associate:

"I'll stake everything on stopping the B-70. If there is one thing I know it is research and development."

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and, if signed with a pen name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

Probably every university city in the land has a "University Road" or Street or Boulevard or Way or Square or Circle or Avenue. How many places have a "Foul Bay Road"?

To the sailor "foul ground" is dangerous ground on which to drop an anchor and "foul water" is water too shallow in which to anchor. Long ago, an officer under Admiral Purcell's command surveyed a small bay near Victoria and warned mariners of its nature by noting it to be a "foul bay" (I doubt that the present-day odor was then apparent!). Later, some enthusiasts paid Gonzales the doubtful compliment.

Natural Park Better

Why is it that you want to make a Sherwood Forest out of the Gorge Park area? There are already few enough natural parks in Victoria and on Vancouver Island. I enjoy fishing in the Gorge area and so do a lot of other people.

A place for children to go and pay to see is not half as good as a place where Canadian children or children

That Goes Double

I think it is a horrible idea to make a Sherwood Forest in the Gorge Park area. The Gorge is a natural park which has matured for many years. I think it is fine just as it is. If they want to build a "Sherwood Forest" why don't they use Elk Lake or Thetis Lake or someplace else?

Chant on 'Hot Tiles' Denies Cheap Buy

Tiles in the legislative corridors came under fire again in the legislature yesterday.

"These old parliament buildings deserve the best," Cedric Cox (NDP-CCF - Burnaby) told the legislature. "I don't like to see these cheap kitchen tiles . . . they get all scuffed up . . . janitors have to put down plastic coating over them every two weeks."

"We will be lucky if they last five years," he said.

He accused Public Works Minister W. N. Chant of having put down the cheapest tiles he could find in Victoria's new law court buildings.

"There is no need for it. These are buildings we hope will become historical buildings," he said.

Victoria-Born Doctor Kingsley Terry Dies

Born in Victoria and educated here and at McGill University, Dr. Kingsley Terry, 63, died Monday in Brompton Hospital, London.

Dr. Terry was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Terry. He attended Boys' Central and Victoria High Schools before going to McGill, where he graduated in medicine.

As a youth he joined the 103rd Battalion signal unit in the First World War, and in the Second World War served in Ceylon.

Dual Keel-Laying

Fast Start to Be Made on New Ferries

Keel sections of two new B.C. government ferries will be laid in a dual ceremony at Victoria Machinery Depot on Monday at 4 p.m.

Sponsors of the new vessels, No. 5 and No. 6 in the toll authority fleet, will be the wives of Victoria MLAs, Mrs. Waldo Skillings and Mrs. J. Donald Smith.

The ships will cost more than $7,000,000 to build. Choice of the names hasn't yet been disclosed.

VMD president Harold Hubbard said last night the prefabricated keel sections, each weighing nearly 35 tons, will be swung into place with a giant crane.

STEEL HERE

Brief ceremonies in which the sponsor declares the keel well and truly laid will be held in quick succession on the adjoining building ways at VMD's Outer Wharf plant.

Some 80 per cent of the steel for the ships has already arrived here from the mills in eastern Canada. Fabrication of hull sections is to be carried out, so far as possible, for both ships at the same time.

More than 250 men are now employed on the job and by summer this number will have climbed above 600.

Ferry No. 5 will be roughly one month ahead of No. 6 the past month.

during the stages of hull and superstructure construction.

The gap between the two ships will widen to six weeks or more during the outfitting period.

First of the ferries is slated for delivery in February, 1963, the second two months later.

U.K. TV Too Brutal?

LONDON (UPI) — The British government plans to conduct the most sweeping inquiry yet made into the effects of television violence and murder on the viewing public—particularly children.

Newspapers reported the inquiry while the country engaged in a controversy over a murder scene in a British Broadcasting Corp. Television serial of Charles Dickens' classic, Oliver Twist.

The investigation will be directed by the Home Office with the co-operation of the BBC and the Independent Television Authority.

Labor member of Parliament Victor Yates has angrily denounced the Oliver Twist episode.

side which showed Bill Sykes bludgeoning Nancy to death with a pistol.

The show went on March 18 at 5 p.m.—a Sunday afternoon hour considered prime viewing time for children.

Postmaster-General Reginald Bevins called the scene "brutal and quiet inexcusable."

But Eric Taylor, 40, producer of Oliver Twist, said:

"I think there is much worse violence in Westerns. Murder is real and horrible and children have to learn the nasty facts of life as well as the nice ones."

Adding fuel to the controversy over television violence, sex and crime were charges by Yates that in the past 18 months four children have hanged themselves after watching such scenes on their home screens.

Coming

Outstanding speakers from Canada and the U.S. will be heard by delegates to the 22nd annual meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association April 17, 18 and 19 in the Empress Hotel.

Keynote speaker will be Howard Morgan, a member of the U.S. Federal Power Commission. Speaker at the banquet April 17 will be Premier Bennett.

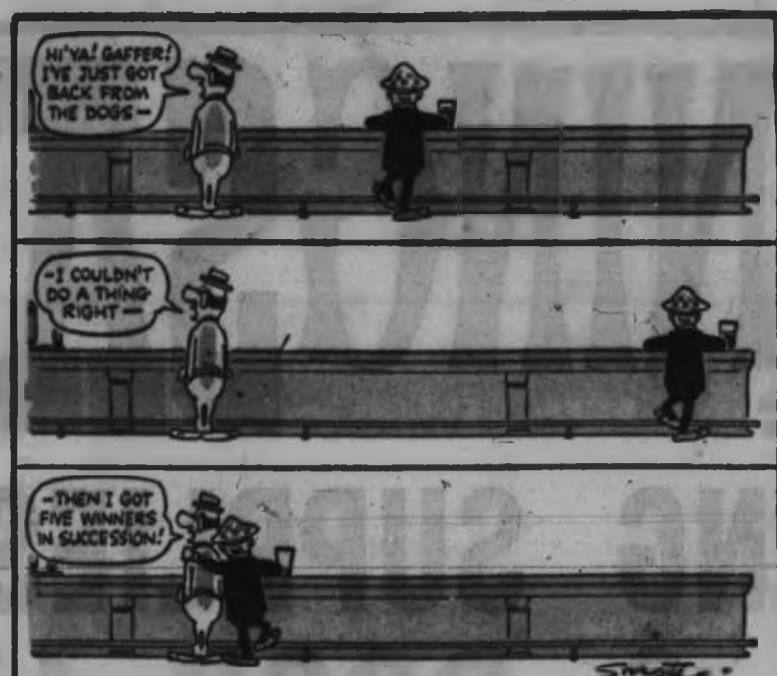

OTHER SPEAKER

Others to be heard will include Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of B.C. Hydro; Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the B.C. Electric; Ivan Bateyman, president of the American Public Power Association, Los Angeles; W. E. Ireland, B.C. provincial librarian and archivist, and W. B. Lewis, vice-president, Atomic Energy of Canada.

BROAD ISSUES

About 250 representatives of consumer-owned electric distribution systems in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia are expected to attend.

Broad policy issues will be discussed under the general theme, "The Giant Power Age."

Labor Delegates to Examine Encyclical of Pope John

A conference on labor-management relations, planned by Roman Catholics of the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta will be held in Victoria Sept. 14 to Sept. 16.

About 500 delegates are expected to attend the conference, which will examine the recent encyclical of Pope John in which the moral responsibilities of labor and management to each other, to society and to the state are laid out.

Schedule of speakers has not yet been prepared, but noted labor spokesmen and management specialists from many parts of Canada will attend.

Formal opening Thursday for modern Builders plant.

52nd Anniversary

Builders Sash and Door Opening Modern Store

There are few places you can go on Vancouver Island without running into the handiwork of Builders Sash and Door, a firm now celebrating its 52nd anniversary in brand new premises on Burnside Road.

The ultra-modern store at 483 Burnside that displays the quality products of the new factory above and behind it bears little similarity to the frame shed that started in 1918 as Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. but the same workmanship is there.

Formal opening of the new buildings is scheduled for Thursday but already owner Jack Lord and his staff of 22 have been coping with customers old and new while trying to solve the chaos of moving.

At 9:30 a.m. Thursday Trade and Industry Minister Robert Bonner will formally open the new operation and other special events will take place Friday and Saturday.

A pair of nylon stockings will be given away to each of the first hundred ladies in the store and each of the first hundred men will get a carpenter's apron.

Many Door Prizes

Throughout the first three days door prizes donated by wholesalers and other firms will be drawn. Saturday afternoon the grand prize, a kitchen decorated up to the value of $600 will be drawn.

The new factory is on a hill behind the store and fronts on Cecilia Street.

The property was acquired and building started over a year ago but a disastrous fire last year burned down the structure.

Boasting 15,000 square feet of floor area, the factory is estimated to cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

The store, much larger than its predecessor on Garibaldi Road, has 6,000 square feet of space.

Although the total floor area in both buildings is about the same as the combined factory and store space at the old site efficiency is increased immeasurably because of the latest techniques and machinery.

This says Mr. Lord, combining all working area being on one floor, compared to three for the old building, will mean greater savings to the customer through cheaper operating costs.

One of the many "firsts" claimed by the firm is in the construction of the factory where two glue-laminated beams measuring 100 feet each were installed. These are believed to be the longest of their type used in local construction.

Quality work by Builders may be found in the Port Hardy Airport terminal, Campbell River Junior-Senior High School, Esquimalt High School, the Tally-Ho Motel and the Ingraham Motel.

In 1910 three brothers named Cousin started Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. on Garibaldi Road south of Gorge Road.

In the tiny plant they turned out joinery work, sash and doors, general mill work and office and house fixtures.

The partners were reduced to two shortly after when Charles Cousin went down with the Plague in the Lynn Canal.

In 1919 Ned McGillivray formed a company and negotiated a loan which enabled him to buy the firm and carry on.

The bridge company was a judgment for this amount against the company following a Supreme Court hearing, but this was set aside later by B.C. Court of Appeal.

Land Grab Denied
By Gaglardi

Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCP—Vancouver East) this week accused the highways department of taking land from a family without compensation, then selling it for use as a motor hotel site.

Highways Minister Gaglardi promptly denied it.

Mr. Macdonald said Mrs. Elena Smook and her son, Harold Dremien, owned 10 acres of land near the south end of Oak Street bridge. In 1956 part of it was sold to the highways department for $22,000.

But, in 1958, he continued, a further 3 2/5 acres were taken, for which no offer was made, and which was not gazetted for sale.

In December, 1958, Mr. Dremien saw a newspaper ad offering the same land for sale by auction. It was bought by Jarvis Construction Ltd. and the Delight Motor Hotel is now being built there.

Mr. Macdonald said Mr. Dremien considered it was a contrived pre-arranged sale.

Mr. Gaglardi said his department did buy a piece of property, but that after purchase it sometimes took several years before this actually showed up on the former owner's deed to the rest of his property.

He said the day before the property was sold, after it was found surplus to highway needs, Mr. Dremien's lawyer asked to buy it back.

Napoleonic War Foes Arrived Within Days

A man who marched with Napoleon to the capture of Moscow and a man who piped Wellington's Highlanders to victory at Waterloo arrived in Victoria just four days apart in late March a century ago.

The piper, Thomas Fraser Campbell, was dying. He had suffered a stroke on the mainland, and was brought here for hospital care during his "downward path to the silent tomb."

Widely admired by grommen Victorians, he was assured of every attention -- but something went horribly wrong. He rallied physically, but his mind was deranged.

He took to escaping from the Royal Hospital. On his second escape, on a Sunday morning in May, he wandered to the home of Chief Justice Cameron, who took him in, cared for him and put him to bed. The next morning the piper rose early and disappeared into the woods.

1862-Birth of a City

By J. T. Jones

Two weeks later, although the St. Andrews Society offered a reward for finding him, he was still missing. The society angrily refused to pay the hospital for his care, claiming that the care hadn't been much good if the poor man had been allowed to wander off to his death.

The account doesn't say whether that included Waterloo, and the image of M. Breson being routed by the wild Highlanders spurred on by Campbell's piping can scarcely be justified.

At any rate, in later years Breson visited nearly every country in the world and crossed the Equator 22 times.

Before coming here, he spent 12 years as a miner in California.

They had a legislative by-election in Esquimalt, and elected Thomas Harris, Esq., by acclamation to fill the vacancy created by Capt. George Gordon. (Harris was soon afterward to become Victoria's first mayor.)

Gordon was the former colonial treasurer, charged with embezzlement, acquitted on a technicality and then jailed as debtor because he couldn't make good the missing money.

The other veteran of the Napoleonic Wars who hit Victoria that year was a happier case altogether.

His name was Pierre Breson, he was 75 years old, and he was off to the Cariboo to make his fortune in the mines.

"A wonder of activity, courage and energy," the Colonist called him. He didn't look a day over 50 -- although it might be noted now that a century ago, 50 was a fairly advanced time of life.

March to Russia

Mr. Breson was in Napoleon's army in its march into Russia in 1812. He was present at the burning of Moscow (by the Russians, to drive the French out) and took part in the most important battles fought by Napoleon toward the end.

The legislature was in session, and the Speech from the Throne promised that Victoria's long-sought incorporation bill would be introduced.

In Esquimalt, a female terrier gave birth to five "pups."

Kindergartens Restricted

A move to stop kindergartens in residential areas from becoming "commercial enterprises" was made by Oak Bay zoning committee this week.

Committee agreed that while kindergartens were necessary, they could create a noise nuisance in a residential area unless restricted in size.

A recommendation will be made to council that kindergartens should be restricted to 12 pupils. Larger establishments will require special zoning.

Wildlife Films This Week

Nature photographer Cleveland P. Grant will show films on North America's wildlife in Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The films will be shown under sponsorship of the Audubon Society and Victoria Natural History Society.

Four of them died almost at once, but the fifth was reported to be flourishing. We'll probably never know what became of it. The Colonist explained that the mother had had a fierce fight with a large bear, which bit her badly on the nose, and that was why the bear turned out as it did. It's a good an explanation as any.

Basic Sweet Dough

Scald $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk. Stir in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine. Cool to luke warm. Dissolve 3 pkgs. of fast-rising dry yeast following directions on the package but using only $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water for all 3 packages. Stir in lukewarm mixture. Add 2 eggs, beaten, and 3 cups sifted flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in additional 2 cups sifted flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured surface. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Brush top with soft shortening. Cover. Let rise in warm place free from draft until double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured surface. Proceed according to directions for shape selected.

Victoria Juniors Reach Semi-Finals In Canadian Badminton Tourney

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

A suddenly-ashamed boxing world waits anxiously these days hoping for the word that Benny Paret will live. It's so ashamed that there will actually be a great wave of relief if it could be announced that Paret will live even though he remains a hopeless cripple the rest of his life.

It isn't pretty, this thing, and the aftermath is no prettier than what happened in the ring last Saturday before hundreds of thousands of now-horrified watchers.

The horror is but a way out for conscience. Emile Griffith, who lost complete control of himself in that 12th round and even fought off referee Ruby Goldstein in an effort to administer even more punishment, says he is walking the streets at night unable to sleep.

Goldstein, who had a much better view of things that were happening than anyone else, has vigorously defended his decision not to stop the fight sooner but it's a safe guess that he never again will let matters go that far. Yet it would be difficult to have had a more competent or more respected third man in the ring.

Many Alfaro, Paret's manager, is reportedly embittered because Goldstein has been exonerated of blame in the investigation which followed, but who hasn't seen managers more embittered when they thought a fight was stopped too soon? And while I stand to be corrected on this, it seems Alfaro could have stopped things himself by tossing a towel into the ring.

Most horror-stricken of all are the boxing fans who watched that Saturday night slaughter. They are demanding investigations and criticizing Goldstein but few are putting the blame where it belongs—on themselves and on boxing itself.

Fight fans normally demand everything short of death. They are the first to holler if a referee—and Goldstein has suffered their boos more than once for this—cheats them of their "sport" by stopping a fight while a fighter is still semi-conscious. Face the fact that boxing survives because so many of us find enjoyment in watching one man mete out punishment to another.

This is a terrible indictment, but it is true. Boxing is the only sport, and the word is used loosely, in which the object is to deliberately injure your opponent. The more injury one can inflict the more successful he is.

Two fellows throwing punches in a pub would be jailed as dined, and if one died as a result, the other would at least face a manslaughter charge. When it happens in the ring it masquerades legally as a sport and people who come to watch someone get hurt protest when the hurt is serious, as it inevitably will be.

Paret's death or crippling, whichever it will be, won't harm professional boxing. It appeal is very elemental and therefore it will always appeal to many of us. There won't be many, if any, who were tuned in last Saturday who won't be watching the next good Saturday fight. If there is one place to lay the blame for what happened to Paret it is on those of us who like to watch people fight. The so-called "manly art of self-defense" is, professionally, at least, not necessarily manly. It is not an art and it is not learned for defensive purposes.

RIGHT FINAL DUE: Shifting to a pleasanter subject, it appears after only one game of each semi-final that a second consecutive Stanley Cup surprise is not in store this season. Montreal Canadiens are just too good and if they should again fail against Chicago Black Hawks it will be more astounding than surprising.

It isn't difficult to see the difference, even to a fellow who believed that the trade of Doug Harvey and early-season injuries to Jean Beliveau, Dickie Moore and Bernie Geoffrion would bring the National Hockey League champions back to the level of their opposition.

Canadiens just have too many good players. The Hawks can match them when they send out Bobby Hull, Stan Mikita, Al McDonald, Bill Hay and Pierre Pilote on a power play but that's where it ends. Canadiens have so many good ones that when they are at full strength Don Marshall and Phil Goyette are their 10th and 11th forwards.

This kind of talent makes the Canadiens by odds the most pleasurable club to watch. They skate faster and shoot harder than any of their opposition and their passing is in a class by itself. What is missed in the attention paid their patient attack is that their speedy, position-playing forwards go both ways and have the ability to move the puck smoothly out of their own zone so there is seldom sustained pressure on the Harvey-less defence.

The Hawks are likely to toughen things up from here on in but it is unlikely they will be allowed to gain the momentum which caused the big upset of a year ago. This time, the Stanley Cup final should be fought out by the clubs who really belong there—Montreal and Toronto.

Toronto could find the Rangers pecky, but it should be no more than that. The Maple Leafs are too veteran in too many places but they have more good players than any club except Canadiens. But for the loss of Carl Brewer, perhaps the best defenceman in hockey, this could have been the Leafs' year. It may be anyhow, but it will be enough to have a Montreal-Toronto final. Surprises are great conversation pieces but two of them last year made the semi-final the highlight of the cup playdowns.

GUERNSEY DEPARTMENT: Canadiens and Maple Leafs to go two up in the Stanley Cup semi-finals and Spokane to eliminate San Francisco in WHL playdowns. Betting average to date: At bat 53, hits 35, percentage .660.

New Approach to Revive Old Glories

Arsenal Hopes Wright Method Works

LONDON (Special) — Billy Wright, one of England's great old footballers and a fast-rising power in administrative circles, has staked his future with the most famous football club in the world.

Capped 10 times as England's longest-serving international in history, the former Wolves centre-half has been named to manage Arsenal in a move aimed at reviving old glories with a new approach.

PAINFUL DECISION

The boyish looking Wright takes over May 1 from George Swindin, who became the 26th legless manager to pass come-uppy with his club this season when Arsenal fired him in what it called a "painful and embarrassing" decision.

New club chairman Denis Hill-Wood, determined to re-build the London team into a clear indication of the impact Tottenham has caused on the London scene when he world, made it painfully clear said: "We cannot afford to remain just another team in the league when Tottenham are doing so well. The fans resent this situation and I do not blame them."

NO EXPERIENCE

The man Arsenal has picked to revive the flagging fortunes had had no previous experience as a club manager but he has excelled in almost everything else he has tackled.

He was well schooled under tough Wolverhampton boss Stanley Cullis, graduated as a fully-qualified Football Association coach and took over the reins as manager of England's promising youth international team.

Wright, who will be England's assistant manager at the World Cup tournament in Chile next May, refused an offer to join Arsenal as chief "coach." Wright says: "It will be much last November. But he the finest thing that could happen to English football."

Wright has been promised a free hand in rebuilding the team and unlimited financial resources.

Walter Winterbottom was surprisingly rejected in voting for the post of secretary of the Football Association.

Wright will begin his task free from the clutches of tradition that has hampered his post-war predecessors and put the brake on Arsenal's progress during an era in which the game has taken giant strides forward.

ONLY THE 12TH

Only the 12th manager since the club was formed in 1893, Wright does not belong to the past of Herbert Chapman and George Allison but to the present avant-garde school of "trackball" managers. At a yearly salary of an estimated $10,000, he will be one of the highest paid managers in Britain.

Paret's Purse Waits

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxer Benny (Kid) Paret is maintaining the slight improvement which he showed Tuesday, a medical bulletin issued by Roosevelt Hospital said late Wednesday.

The bulletin added the condition of the fighter, whom of the world welterweight title and beaten nosebleed in 12 rounds by Emile Griffith at Madison Square Garden last Saturday "remained critical."

The 25-year-old Cuban-born Paret has been in a coma since the fight.

Earlier, the hospital reported Paret had made "some purposeful movements" with his arms, and that his coma had lessened.

Griffith, after picking up his $15,000 purse for the bout, has gone into seclusion, probably at the suburban estate of his co-manager, Howard Albert.

Paret's purse of $50,000 less a $2,000 advance he received to apply to payments on a Miami home—is still waiting for him at the Garden. It is the largest amount Paret ever has earned.

Brute Force Now Controls Curling

By KEN WATSON

During the past season curling in Canada has enjoyed a tremendous growth in the numbers and enthusiasm of its fraternity. The centre of gravity for the rock-tossers of our Canada is gradually moving eastward from a point somewhere east of Regina where the preponderance of players was greatest in the last few years back.

Now the walls that once re-

Help Needed For Lacrosse

Minor lacrosse registrations for boys 7-14 years will be held Saturday morning at Stevenson Park at 10.

With the association planning to use a new box at Hampton Park several new coaches and managers will be needed so those interested in helping are urged to turn out.

Sticks for the players will be available.

Boxla Body Sits Tonight

Newly-formed Esquimalt Minor Lacrosse Association will hold a meeting at Esquimalt Municipal Centre, 1151 Esquimalt Road, tonight at 8. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Registration for the new association will take place at the Centre Saturday at 10 a.m. Any boys between six and 21 years of age interested in playing organized lacrosse are asked to register at that time.

Meeting Set For Colwood Softballers

Annual meeting of the Colwood and District Softball League, which takes in Jordan River, Sooke, Colwood, View Royal, Cordova Bay, Brentwood and Mill Bay, will be held at the View Royal Fire Hall next Monday starting at 8 p.m.

The league, operated 38 teams last year for boys and girls in the pee-wee, midget, bantam, juvenile and junior age divisions and anyone in the above areas who is interested is asked to attend.

CHECK YOUR GRIP PERIODICALLY

Check your grip periodically to see that (1) the club handle rests on the third joint of the index, middle and third fingers of the right hand; (2) the left hand is firmly in place, with no space showing around the hand or the butt end of the club; (3) the right forefinger is "cocked" a bit down the shaft.

Here's the standard grip from another perspective. Note that the right thumb is stationed a bit on the left-top side of the club.

For most golfers, the V's formed by the thumb and forefinger of both hands point toward the right shoulder. As you look down on your grip, you should see only one knuckle of the right hand, two of the left.

Whole Family Conquers Third Hole at Oakwood

ENID, Okla. (AP) — The Leslie E. McClellan family has conquered the third hole at Oakwood Golf and Country Club here.

McClellan said he scored a hole-in-one on the 115-yard, par-three hole in 1962, using a No. 8 iron.

Three weeks ago his son, Benny, 18, got a hole-in-one on No. 3 with a four iron.

McClellan's wife, Doris, stood on the No. 3 tee last Sunday and canned a nine-iron shot.

Lake Pend Oreille gave up served the roaring game for a chosen few in eastern Canada are breaking down with pay-as-you-play rinks and golf curling establishments opening their doors to thousands of new broom wielders each year.

ACCENT ON YOUTH

Along with this changing environment the accent on youth is increasingly notable, particularly in top-flight competition. This month at Kitchener the average age of the Brier contestants was 38.7 years. (If the popular B.C. rink and a couple more oldersters were not counted, age 26 would be about right.)

The road up the rugged, rocky playdown trail to the pinnacles of the Brier and Scotch Cup is a long, rough journey. It takes all the stamina and endurance of youth to make the grade.

URING BROOM

Sweeping has become a tremendously important weapon for topnotch rinks today—not just sweeping but pounding the ice with every ounce of muscle in the body. In provincial and Brier play the broom has become a menacing tool in the hands of those who can use it well.

This year there were at least seven double tandems of power sweepers who could beat the ice into submission and place a draw shot almost on any point designated by the skip.

The fantastic accuracy of these plays was offset only if the rock was a bit heavy.

SHARP SHOOTERS

Today's breed of young curlers are sharp-shooters who amazed the fans with nipp-outs, pick-offs and rifle-like split shots that made an almost perfect freeze or a well-played short guard look futile.

Crooked ice might be the antidote for the rash of blank ends that our young busters are trying as early as the first end.

An unofficial count of bald headed ends at Kitchener shows 61—an all-time record.

TAKEN OVER

It's getting to be now that you have to own a cannon to make the "big tent." As result there is a move on foot to try to get us middle-aged guys back in the game at the national level. Yes, I'm afraid the young'uns have taken over.

Then too we have this aiding business with us whether we like it or not. Evidently youth must be served and young fellas love to glide on the hog-line even if they have to nail a slab of arborite to the left sole to do it. For them their goal is the first hog-line and any kid who can't make it is a sissy. They started with leather but it did not get them far enough; they tried liquid solder but it wore off; then they rummaged through synthetics till they found teflon, polyethylene, neoprene, parafin, vinyl—and they made it—with something to spare.

Now somebody has suggested we need an electric eye or an electronic beam at the hog-line with a mechanical device overhead with a hook on it that will swoop down, grab the handle of an offending rock and yank it off the ice so the player's big toe has as much as dared to touch that sacred line.

At any rate, it has been an interesting year with the Regina Richardsons coping with their third title in the most dramatic Brier of all time and then grabbing the Scotch Cup from Scotland, Sweden and the U.S.

Today's breed of young curlers are sharp-shooters who amazed the fans with nipp-outs, pick-offs and rifle-like split

shots that made an almost perfect freeze or a well-played short guard look futile.

Crooked ice might be the antidote for the rash of blank ends that our young busters are trying as early as the first end.

An unofficial count of bald headed ends at Kitchener shows 61—an all-time record.

TAKEN OVER

It's getting to be now that you have to own a cannon to make the "big tent." As result there is a move on foot to try to get us middle-aged guys back in the game at the national level. Yes, I'm afraid the young'uns have taken over.

Then too we have this aiding business with us whether we like it or not. Evidently youth must be served and young fellas love to glide on the hog-line even if they have to nail a slab of arborite to the left sole to do it. For them their goal is the first hog-line and any kid who can't make it is a sissy. They started with leather but it did not get them far enough; they tried liquid solder but it wore off; then they rummaged through synthetics till they found teflon, polyethylene, neoprene, parafin, vinyl—and they made it—with something to spare.

Now somebody has suggested we need an electric eye or an electronic beam at the hog-line with a mechanical device overhead with a hook on it that will swoop down, grab the handle of an offending rock and yank it off the ice so the player's big toe has as much as dared to touch that sacred line.

At any rate, it has been an interesting year with the Regina Richardsons coping with their third title in the most dramatic Brier of all time and then grabbing the Scotch Cup from Scotland, Sweden and the U.S.

The road up the rugged, rocky playdown trail to the pinnacles of the Brier and Scotch Cup is a long, rough journey. It takes all the stamina and endurance of youth to make the grade.

URING BROOM

Sweeping has become a tremendously important weapon for topnotch rinks today—not just sweeping but pounding the ice with every ounce of muscle in the body. In provincial and Brier play the broom has become a menacing tool in the hands of those who can use it well.

This year there were at least seven double tandems of power sweepers who could beat the ice into submission and place a draw shot almost on any point designated by the skip.

The fantastic accuracy of these plays was offset only if the rock was a bit heavy.

Garden Notes

Hardy Landmark

By M. V. CHEBUT, FREE

So far this week we have discussed where to plant gladiolus bulbs and what to look for when shopping for glads. Today I think we might have a look at a few of my favorite varieties—not necessarily the newest kinds, nor the types that win blue ribbons at the flower shows, but varieties that have performed well in our garden.

One gladiolus my family has fallen for in a big way is Landmark. This is an All-America winner of 1960, bred by a Canadian amateur, and making a sturdy spike closely filled with huge cream-colored flowers. The petals are beautifully ruffled, and the spike will open as many as 14 of its 22 buds at one time. I think the thing that appeals to me, though, is the bronzed constitution of Landmark; it never seems to come down with bugs or blights, and it grows like a weed even under the most appalling conditions.

Incidentally, the commercial cut-flower gladiolus growers of Florida are very much impressed with the sturdy, trouble-free qualities of Landmark, but they would like to see it in white rather than cream, as white glads are more in demand for weddings, wedding receptions and funerals. To this end, they are offering an award of $1,000 for the first white sport of Landmark.

Another glad very much in demand around our house is Green Ice. This isn't the greenest gladiolus on the market by any means—Erie and Green Water are greener by far—but it is the most appealing, for my money. The color is a greenish cream, shading darker toward the throat, as cool-looking as a lime highball.

About the earliest of the large glads to open its flowers in our garden is Friendship, a fine pink flower with a husky constitution, and one which has been around now for quite a few years. Spic and Span, another pink, is about the cleanest-looking glad in our garden, with no moths or blotches of any kind on its petals.

Years ago we grew a very dark gladiolus called Paul Robeson, such a dark red it was almost black. We lost the bulb in the freeze of 1955, and I haven't been able to find Paul Robeson listed in any of the catalogues, but last year we ran into another grand almost-black glad by the name of Congo Song. This one has large, wavy, fluted petals that look as if they had been cut from black velvet, with just a tinge of red.

My wife's flower-arranging friends go quite mad over an off-beat gladiolus we grow called Gunsmoke. This is one of the "smoky" class with big, iridescent orange flowers, heavily ruffled, and shockingly colorful in comparison with the pale pastel varieties.

We grow quite a few varieties in the yellow and orange color range. My wife's favorite in this class is Forsythia, a chartreuse yellow flower heavily ruffled and frilled, and with spikes as straight as a guardman. My own fancy is for Fort Knob, which, as the name implies, is a rich, golden yellow, with something of the same freedom from blight and troubles as the husky Landmark.

I don't think any gladiolus collection could be considered complete without at least two or three bulbs of Elizabeth the Queen, a stately flower in clear, ruffled lavender.

None of these bulbs is overly expensive. Landmark and Congo Song run around 30 cents each, with the rest selling anywhere from 10 to 25 cents per bulb.

Chilling Words from the Top

"Indeed it is questionable whether the human mind can encompass all the problems involved in controlling these devices even without a war. It is not inconceivable that we could blow ourselves up without help from the Russians; and vice-versa."

The idea that all those thermonuclear firecrackers can go off in our own hands without enemy action has been expressed before. But those two sentences I find particularly formidable because they were written by John J. McCloy in Foreign Affairs. Other distinguished minds—Bertrand Russell, Linus Pauling, to name only two—have advanced the proposition that the piling up of nuclear deterrents, far from being a security measure, could easily be the road to disaster. But McCloy, whom Richard Rovere has nominated the chairman of the board of The Establishment (American, that is), is a rather different kind of person from Bertrand Russell. And, while the words "not inconceivable" are the most tentative possible ones, the fact that they come from McCloy make that statement alarming.

All of which leads me, somewhat circuitously to NBC's Sunday night White Paper, called Arms and the State, whose executive producer is Irving Gitter. I have been watching these White Papers with increasing admiration for some years now, because I feel most urgently that here television, in a tiny way, is fulfilling some of the vast responsibilities which it usually so consistently attempts to evade.

Arms and the State is an immense story. In the words of the narrator Chet Huntley, it's the story of a "quiet but fundamental change in America" which is "little discussed." Actually, the liberal magazines, especially The Nation, have worried a good deal about what The Nation calls "the warfare state." But what I find increasingly heartening is that great ideas planted in the small intellectual magazines can filter down into the mass media where they become of genuine concern to the great American audience.

The warfare state, as The Nation has pointed out, and as the White Paper elaborated, has changed the defence industry from a matter of security to a way of life. Whole communities are now dependent on defence orders. In a community like Farmingdale, L.I., near an orders for an obsolescent plane is fought by the whole community because it threatens its existence.

The White Paper dwelt heavily on the impact on Denver, the site of the defence complex where Martin makes Titan missiles. Nearby are a good many of the hardened missile sites and NBC had some scary shots of these great steel doors opening in the ground to let out those monster 10-storey missiles with their hydrogen bomb warheads—all set to pulverize Moscow.

Defence is the contemporary pork barrel and NBC, even more extensively than The Nation, went into its degrading political effects—Maryland Congressman arguing California is getting more than its fair share of defence contracts, echoed by a New York Congressman. In fact, it's getting to be political suicide to vote against this kind of pork. Rep. Mahon of Georgia, in his soft southern accent, points out that "a couple" of Congressmen (I imagine only "a couple") who voted against the defence bill "are no longer with us."

Somewhere this program missed. Lacking was a final summation or a clear point of view that held the whole thing together, as if the author and director shrank from reaching any final conclusion or pointing any moral. Still, it was a mighty interesting program on a vitally important story.

What a Strange Role!

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Grace Kelly hates men, recoils from their touch, in her Marnie movie. How will she explain this to Prince Albert and Princess Caroline? What a strange role for her to choose for her return to the screen! However, in making this Hitchcock movie in Hollywood, Princess Grace could start a new fashion—to make Hollywood once again the film capital of the world.

Ely Landau plans to turn New York into another Rome, picturewise. The producer plans to make a lot of movies in Manhattan on small budgets with big stars. His Long Day's Journey into Night with Katharine Hepburn, James Edwards Jr. and Mr. Ralph Richardson cost less than $400,000, with stars and director Sidney Lumet each taking a token payment of $20,000 and the rest in royalties.

That beautiful piano in the apartment of Bette Davis in New York is there because Mrs. Richard Burton and a slew of Roddy's friends, including Judy Garland, decided Roddy, who plays the instrument very well, should have a piano—and they bought it for him. No one is more popular, especially with fellow actors, than Roddy.

Frank Sinatra names his companies after British counties—Essex, Sussex, etc. But Kirk Douglas prefers the personal touch. His Bryna Productions was named for his mother. His Lonely Are the Brave film was named for one of his four sons. Joel Joan Collins named her company Harley Productions, after the street where she lives in London. When stars are in love they often take a combination of their names such as RON—Robert Wagner—Natalie Wood—and Caribright—Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh. And one or the other gets custody of the company when love is ended.

Hope Lange is taking French lessons by telephone. She says it's the best way. It's hard enough to hear English on the phone sometimes, with French you must really concentrate.

Everyone mistook Marlon Brando for a producer when he walked on the Ugly American set, dressed in a dark blue sharkskin business suit, complete with tie, Homburg hat—and shoes.

'Name Delinquents, Parents'

Publication of names of juvenile delinquents constantly repeating offences and of parents who refuse to co-operate with authorities in controlling their children was advocated in the legislature yesterday by Mrs. Lois Hagan (NDP-CCP—Grand Forks).

She said this would act as a deterrent to the young offender and place pressure on parents to accept their proper responsibility.

Mrs. Hagan said most juvenile delinquents are victims of time or lack of discipline and lack of example by their parents.

The solution lies in building a better society, she said.

"This is an age when parents are urged to drink up so their children can have the beer bottles to sell so they can buy pop in place of the milk they should be drinking."

Parents treated children as a toy, enjoying them when they wanted to do so and discarding them when they're tired of them.

Welfare Minister Black said Cecil Gorby, appointed last fall as co-ordinator of juvenile delinquency prevention services, is conducting a province-wide survey of problems and services.

$5,000 for Buda

Full sessional indemnity of $5,000 will be paid Mrs. Buda Brown, minister without portfolio, who has been away ill now is recovering from an operation in Vancouver.

The legislature unanimously approved a motion to this effect yesterday. Mrs. Brown is now recovering from an operation in Vancouver.

Museum Need Studied

Preliminary studies on the needs for a new provincial museum building have been carried out by the government. Works Minister Chant said yesterday.

But he said he could give no further information.

It is generally acknowledged the site for the museum will be the government parking lot at Government and Belleville.

But he said he could give no further information.

New Buildings for Jericho School

Camille's Tears Win Point

Mrs. Camille Mather (NDP-CCF) - Delta, who was reduced to tears during a rip-snorting debate in the legislature last week when she demanded better accommodation for the deaf youngsters at Jericho School in Vancouver, has won $1,000,000 worth of new buildings. Public Works Minister W.

N. Chant told her yesterday preliminary planning is definitely in progress.

Start of construction is slated for late this year or early next year on two new buildings for the deaf school — a classroom and a dormitory — at about $500,000 each.

Mr. Chant said his department is engrossed in an intense vocational school building program but, in three or four months, it should be able to give attention to planning for additional accommodation at the Jericho School.

He said he hoped other groups may co-operate with the occupational training aspect and the facilities provided would be used not only for the youngsters but also for adults.

Mrs. Mather referred the House to some pictures which

Fountain Misses Big Day

The controversial fountain to be installed behind the legislative buildings may not be in full operation until early in June, Works Minister Chant told the legislature yesterday.

He said the delay had been caused by the casting of the bronze animal figures in England and there seemed little chance they would arrive in time for a Victoria Day official opening.

Women Janitors 'Poor Practice'

Employment of women janitors for the legislative buildings at a lower rate of pay than men was criticized in the legislature yesterday by Mrs. Lois Hagen (NDP-CCF) - Grand Forks-Greenwood.

But Works Minister W. N. Chant said it had been proven women do a better job — especially when it comes to dusting offices.

"Men are more able to stir up dust than remove it," said the minister.

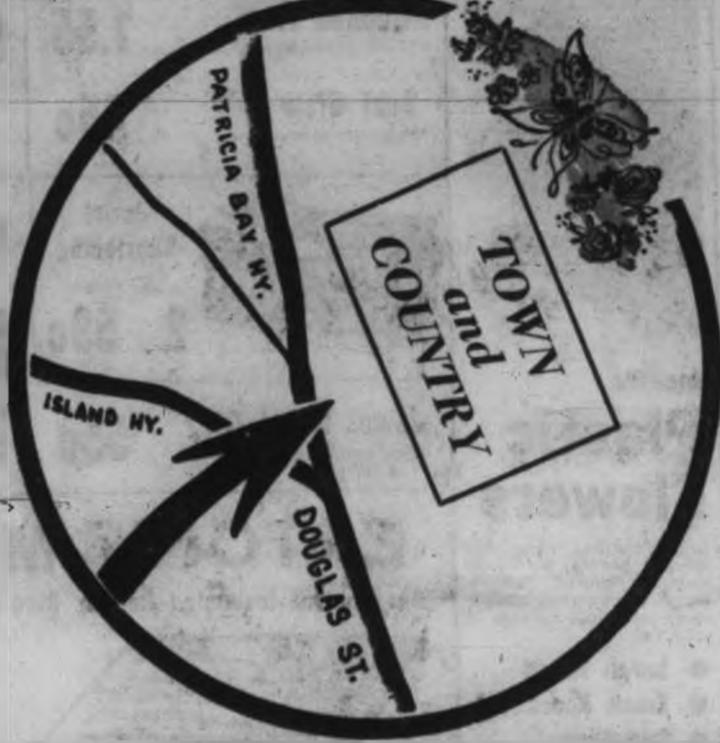

And he said, the difference in the rates of pay was set by the civil service commission.

Furious Residents Accuse Officials

Some 300 angry ratepayers of the Glen Lake-Colwood-Langford area last night flayed representatives of the provincial government for turning the district into a community planning area without consulting the people.

At a protest meeting in Luxton Hall, many furious residents assailed the provincial government for imposing planning, inspections and controls on the area without submitting the question to a vote.

"I've tried to explain it to you," cried Esquimalt MLA Herbert Bruch. "There is no part of provision for a vote on this question. When an area declines to accept the responsibilities of local government, the province must step in."

This was greeted by cries of

One angry area resident lashed out at what he considered to be an attempt to impose the government's will on the district.

"If you don't want it take my word, that's your prerogative," snapped Mr. Bruch. "I'm trying to tell you there'll be no attempt to ram anything down anybody's throat. If you want us to wipe out the area planning board, we will—and the government will go it alone."

"We're not looking," shouted a woman.

Mr. Bruch shuddered visibly.

"Never, never, never would we do anything like that."

Forecast Supported Four-Mill Hike Feared Despite Budget Slash

Police Pay Increases Are Still to Come

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Victoria taxpayers can resign themselves to at least a three-mill increase for 1962, and possibly four.

City comptroller-treasurer James Bramley repeated this estimate yesterday after aldermen had ended their preliminary budget-cutting meetings.

He first warned that a "three or four-mill" increase was almost inevitable Tuesday, and the result of the budget-cutting sessions yesterday supported the prediction.

Despite heavy cutting, aldermen succeeded in reducing the budget by only $426,085. But wage increases added $123,910, making the effective reduction only $302,257.

And still to come are wage increases for city police, who are seeking arbitration over their demand for a nine per cent increase.

Perhaps the biggest help for council in keeping the mill rate down to the "reasonable" figure sought by Mayor R. B. Wilson is the carry over of surplus funds from last year—at least $120,000.

This year's budget was some $856,000 higher than last year.

The cutting effected by aldermen this week reduces the amount to $534,000.

By itself this represents an increase of just over six mills, but it includes items which some city hall officials believe are sure to be deleted from the budget and added to the list of works which might be financed by borrowing.

Must Be Repaid

These include the $100,000 for the urban renewal program which would revitalize blighted areas of the city, $30,000 for preliminary work on the Blanshard Street extension and $22,000 for construction work on Tyee Road.

Council's plan to end the pay-as-you-go policy and begin borrowing money for capital projects will only effect an immediate saving on the mill rate—the money borrowed, plus interest, will have to be repaid over the years.

But by borrowing money now, the city would gain the advantage of having the works done and in use over the years while the money is being repaid.

City manager C. C. Wyatt favors a borrowing plan for capital projects but comptroller-treasurer James Bramley is known to oppose it. Mayor R. B. Wilson has come out in favor.

Heaviest chopping so far was in the public works budget—wages added $8,980 but cuts totalled $144,275.

Least chopping was in the $1,235,910 welfare budget—wages added $3,070 and cuts totalled $75. But most of the budget is recovered from the provincial government.

The following is a brief summary of the individual budgets considered by city hall committee this week:

Fire—Estimated budget was $725,440. Wages added $25,330 to this but $73,550 was cut from the budget, mainly by removing a $70,000 item for construction of a new firehall near the Point Ellice Bridge. Total now stands at $673,220.

Street lighting—Original budget was $222,898. Wage increases added $2,280, but a number of special street lighting projects were cut out, reducing it by $47,345. Total now stands at $177,533.

Projects Dropped

Public works—$822,927 was asked. Wages added $8,980 but special projects eliminated amounted to $144,275. These projects included covering of one-third of Bowker Creek, construction of a new bridge over Bowker Creek at Clavethorpe, sewer outfall work at Clover Point and sidewalk work. Total now stands at $787,532.

Sanitation—Budget estimate was $841,140 and wages added another $8,500. Cuts totalled $58,525, making the present total $891,115.

Water distribution—Estimate of $28,945 was increased $1,980 by wage increases and totals $30,925.

Health—Budget estimate of $55,337 was increased by $6,380 for wages and totals $61,727.

Welfare—Estimated at

$1,205,449. Wages added $3,070 and $75 was cut, making a total of $1,208,444.

Parks—Original estimate was $385,968. Wages added $10,108 to this but elimination of a number of projects resulted in a $33,945 reduction.

Projects which suffered include tennis courts for Beacon Hill Park, a number of small Beacon Hill Park projects.

Community services—Estimate of $28,945 was increased $1,980 by wage increases and totals $30,925.

Sundries—Original estimate was $298,004. Wage adjustments added $5,440 to this but cuts totalled $860, giving a present total of $283,454.

Now that the preliminary pruning program is finished, preparation of the provisional budget will begin. It will be presented to city council late in April.

At the same time, council

will consider police and public library budgets which have still not been released.

Police budget will include an unknown amount for wage increases.

Adding to city council's troubles is a drop of $2,000,000 in the taxable assessment, partly due to the provincial re-assessment program.

Call Cancelled By Dutch Navy

"Operational commitments" was the official reason given yesterday for cancellation of the scheduled visit to Esquimalt of the Royal Netherlands Navy destroyer escorts Grootaer and Limburg. Bullet supplier in the wardroom of HMCS Naden will go on Saturday despite the cancellation.

At the same time, council

will consider police and public library budgets which have still not been released.

Red Cross Campaign Draws Good Response

The Red Cross $75,000 fund-raising campaign reached the halfway point yesterday.

"Public response to the efforts of our many hard-working canvassers has been very good," W. W. Lewis, chairman of the campaign said yesterday.

"We received $43,354.65 to ward our quota and are pleased to report that in spite of the cold reception from the weathermen at the beginning of the campaign, the drive is now warming up and we look for a big push during the final week of Red Cross Month," Mr. Lewis said.

"Industrial, commercial and business divisions are not keeping pace with the residential canvassers, but we anticipate their prudent support in maintaining the high standard of a worthwhile service to the citizens of Victoria," he said.

Anyway the whisky firm should have been more careful—especially when it comes to describing events in their na-

Valuable Stamps Sold to Victorian

A stamp collection valued at $2,500 was sold last night by Linda Auctioneers to an unidentified Victoria collector.

The collection was made up of early Great Britain stamps, mainly one-penny blacks and two-penny blues in chronological order. A number of other valuable stamps also were in the collection.

Idea Favored

Bureau To Pay Bobby?

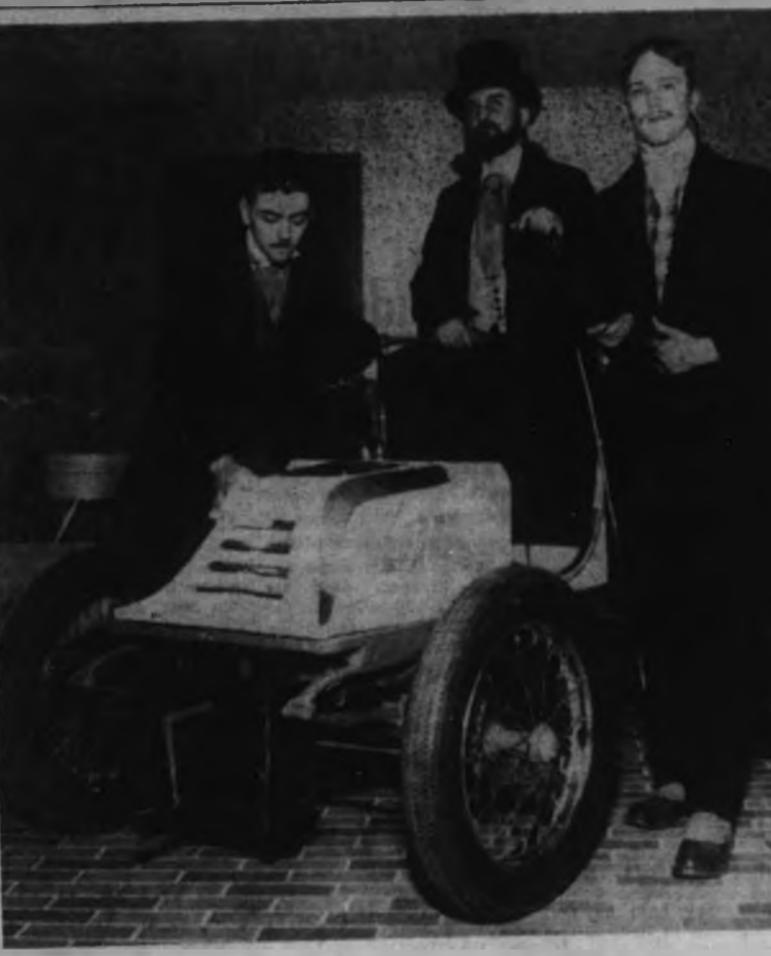

A bobby-helmeted greeter may walk Victoria's Government Street giving information to tourists—if Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau pays the bill.

Police Commissioner William Hamilton told a Victoria police commission meeting yesterday that he knew of a retired policeman who would be willing to wear a uniform similar to a police uniform, with bobby helmet, and promenade the tourist district.

Said Mayor Wilson: "I think a man down there would be an attraction for the centennial. It's like having a Mountie down there."

"I'd suggest that if the publicity bureau would pay the bill, we should give it serious consideration," said Mr. Hamilton.

The commission delegated him to broach the idea to the publicity bureau.

Better Than Wagon

Police Ambulance Not So Costly

If Victoria city police get a new four-wheeler ambulance costing $15,000, they can operate it for no more than the present patrol wagon ambulance service is costing now.

Police Chief John Black

service would cost $30,000 a stock remained Victoria police year.

Victoria is also served by a commercial ambulance company.

It is not yet certain whether the ambulance will survive the pruning of the city's budget.

"I know the patrol wagon isn't the best," the police chief said. "Some of our patients—some of our prisoners—are very crummy. But we try to wash the wagon out."

Cost $50,000

Under the proposed plan, a vehicle would be kept for ambulance use only, rather than doubling as both ambulance and patrol wagon.

Earlier this month, city planning committee had decided against running a city-owned ambulance service distinct from the police department.

City manager C. C. Wyatt reported that such a city businessman last night cried "foul blow" over plans to change the name of Foul Bay Road to University Way.

The residents of this historic road are up in arms over the proposed change of name.

J. Stewart Hagar, 611 Foul Bay Road, said last night: "I have yet to find one who appealed for help from the Foul Bay Road residents.

"We have a unique street name here with Foul Bay."

"Why change it to something as common as University Way," he asked.

Hollywood Beauty

Lotion and Sunlamp For Skin Problems

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Anna Capri plays a girl of her own age in a new television series, "Room For One More." She told me this with a tinge of disappointment, for every girl of 16 is eager to be thought adult.

"But I feel older, for I've been working since I was four years old," she said.

Anna's family owned a motion picture studio in Budapest, and though they were forced to flee to a free country, it was inevitable that she would become part of show business.

"There is one thing a young girl has to care for," Anna volunteered, "and that is her skin. It's especially difficult when it has to be covered with make-up much of the time. But I think if you aren't in show business, a girl in her teens really doesn't need to wear make-up base.

"I had trouble with my skin, but my father's doctor and I followed what he told me to do.

There is nothing that makes you feel so self-conscious as having your face broken out. And if you do the wrong things to try and correct it, you can ruin your complexion for life."

Anna said her father gave her a problem-skin lotion.

"He told me it was very important that I keep my skin clean and my fingers away from my face.

"I wash with an unscented soap, and I rinse my face well and dry it with a clean towel. Then I put on a lotion with a sponge. It tingles a little, but if I use it every day for 10 days, my skin is back to normal. I notice an improvement right away."

"I have a sunlamp that I use. I keep it four feet away from my face, and I set the alarm for 15 minutes. You have to be very careful not to stay under too long."

As we left the luncheon table, I complimented Anna on her posture. "It's something I've been working on," she explained, "for I never realized how unattractive it is to slouch until I saw myself on film."

TEEN-MORE, you'll find lots by us. See the suggestions in Lydia Lane's "Hollywood Beauty Advice" column. Special sections on skin care, skin types and much more. For your copy, send 25 cents to Lydia Lane, The Daily Colonist, P.O. Box 22, Victoria, B.C. Postage is 5 cents. Please order "Teen-More" by name.

Anna Capri offers her solutions to teen-age problems.

Easy Does It with WIN PACKER

Although I prefer a vacuum cleaner for most cleaning, a dust mop will do a fast job of picking up fluff and lint from the floors. Of course we have the problem of ridding the mop of the fluff. A good shaking is in order, but how often the dust blows back in our faces, or even worse—our neighbors may hate us for scattering dust in their direction. Solution? Tie a paper bag around the mop head and shake—then throw big and away.

To remove those bits of lint that cling to the mop fibers, comb them out with a coarse tooth comb—a simple and quick way to keep a floor mop ready for use. And don't overlook washing that mop-head to keep it fresh and ready to do an effective job. So it doesn't merely move dust from one place to another, put a quarter cup of furniture oil or even coal oil in the rinse water and the mop will be "re-treated" to pick up dust.

Two More Women Managers For Bank of Nova Scotia

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank of Nova Scotia has announced the appointment of two more women as bank managers, bringing the number of women managers in the bank to four.

Miss Jean Begg, Halifax, has been appointed manager of the bank's branch in the Nova Scotia Hotel in that city and that city in 1934. In 1943 she was transferred to Vancouver and for three months in 1960 was secretary to the manager of the bank's London, England, branch.

Last year the bank appointed its first two women managers with the appointments of Miss Gladys Marcelius in Ottawa and Mrs. Shirley Gill in Toronto.

Miss Begg is a graduate of Dalhousie University in Halifax. Her brother, Dr. Robert W. Begg, is dean of medicine at the University of Saskatchewan.

Miss Mullen, a native of Regina, joined the bank in 1952 and was promoted to Vancouver in 1954.

Fish Dip Fondue

Fun for the whole family—when heat-and-serve fish is served up with a bright and flavorful cheese sauce, called fish dip fondue. This glamorous touch to the fish course can be prepared while the fish is heating in the oven. The all-American flavor of this new recipe is achieved by two important ingredients: sharp cheddar cheese combined with lemon-lime carbonated beverage for a subtle flavor accent.

Breaded Fish with a Dip Fondue Adds a Sparkle to Lenten Meals

These days, fish for family meals is both easy and quick to prepare. Due to convenient packaging, a vast array of shapes, sizes, and kinds of fish are now available. Some are already breaded, deep fat fried, and ready to heat in the oven. These are called by many names—fish sticks, miniatures, puffs, breaded, and oven-ready, to mention just a few. In addition to the more common fish sticks, such items as crabmeat, scallops, and shrimp are beginning to appear in ultra-convenient heat-and-eat forms.

To add new flavor appeal to your 1962 Lenten menus, serve these varieties of breaded fish with a fish dip fondue. It's a piquant flavored cheese sauce that may be spooned over the fish or served in small individual dishes for dipping. This recipe is a delightful departure from the original Swiss fondue formula since it boasts the sharp flavor of American cheddar cheese and the subtle accent of lemon-lime carbonated beverage. It's a perfect recipe to serve the family—even the children.

• FISH DIP FONDUE

One tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 (7-ounce) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage, $\frac{1}{2}$ pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated (2 cups), $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon dry mustard, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon onion salt,

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: We are not millionaires but one might accurately describe us as "comfortable." Our home is in the $40,000 class, we drive two cars and have three children away at school. We owe no debts and business is good.

I tell you this so you can intelligently prescribe a "cure" for my penny-pinching wife. Whenever we go out to dinner she embarrasses me by asking if the salad is "extra." The same goes for the dessert. Unless it goes with the meal she'll say "I don't care for any" and then she puts her spoon in mine for a "taste."

Last night the dinner check for four was $23. I left $3.50 tip for the waiter. As we were leaving my wife took one of the dollar bills off the table and put it in her purse. I didn't want to start anything in the presence of the other couple so I remained silent. If I am wrong to complain about such a "thrifty" woman, please tell me. If not—clapper HER—SOLVENT.

Dear Sol: How people feel about money is usually inexplicably tied in with their early training. Your wife's problem, however, goes deeper than her feelings about money. It involves her lack of consideration for you.

Tell her if she wants to shop her feet off to save seven cents on a can of pork and beans, fine, but you will decide how much to leave the waiter. And furthermore, if she picks up part of the tip again insist that she put it down, regardless of who is present.

Dear Ann Landers: I play the piano like nobody's business. I can't read music and I never took a lesson in my life. I just love to sit down and bang out any old tune that comes to my mind.

My husband is jealous of my talent. Whenever we go to a party everybody begs me to play. They all crowd around the piano and I sing a little too. Wilbur sits in the corner and sulks. When we get home he tells me I made a fool out of myself.

I've tried to interest Wilbur in music but he has an ear

Dear Ann: I'm scared to death of doctors. When I have to get a polio shot or even a vaccination I'm so petrified I almost faint in the waiting room.

My mother and dad call me silly and I know they are right. When the shot is over I tell myself it didn't hurt at all and I was crazy to be upset.

Please tell me how to overcome this foolish fear. I hate to go through life like this.—SCAIRDY-CAT.

Dear Cat: Ask your doctor if he can spare 10 or 15 minutes to talk to you. A good doctor will explain that your fear dates back to an early experience which was painful or frightening. He will point out that you are grown up now and that the early experience is part of the past and should be forgotten. When you can accept this emotionally, as well as intellectually, your fears will be conquered.

600 Miners on Strike Over Slow Pay Talks

CHIBOUGAMAU, Que. (CP) — Some 600 copper miners are on strike here, 275 miles northwest of Quebec City, against Campbell Chibougamau Mines.

The United Steelworkers said the strike is a protest against slowness in negotiations. The miners seek a 25-cent increase from their present $1.65 an hour.

Union Leaders 'Quit Struggle'

TORONTO (CP) — Many Union leaders have let up in militant and progressive struggles required for the worker in a class society dominated by big business, the Mine-Mill union convention heard Wednesday.

Canadian President C. R. Jackson of the United Electrical Workers spoke as one outlet to another in his address to the five-day convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

NAME EFFORT
Both are outside the ranks of organized labor represented by the Canadian Labor Congress and the AFL-CIO. Mine-Mill and the Electrical Workers still offer the same militant effort on behalf of the working man who looks for that leadership. Mr. Jackson declared. Class collabora-

Maritime Dispute Unsettled

OTTAWA (CP) — Two of the three members of a federal conciliation board have abandoned any hope of resolving a major maritime dispute between the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited.

The two board members — chairman G. D. LaViolette of Montreal and company nominees Norman MacLeod Rogers of Toronto — have informed Labor Minister Starr that no useful purpose can be served in continuing their conciliation efforts.

IWA Negotiations Reach Stalemate

VANCOUVER (CP) — Contract talks between coast lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America have ended in a stalemate and the union said yesterday it has requested appointment of a conciliation officer.

"IWA negotiators claimed that no satisfactory progress had been possible," said a union statement. "The union has made an application for the services of a conciliation officer to deal with the dispute which has now developed."

PRICES FALL
John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which bargains for the operators, said in a statement that despite the fact lumber, plywood and other forest product prices are very substantially greater than those of 10 years ago, the industry was presented with demands headed by a 25-cent an hour wage increase, three weeks additional paid vacations and, double rate for all overtime.

INFRINGEMENT
Mr. Billings said besides wages and holidays the IWA presented demands that "amount to an infringement of long-recognized management rights in the industry" including contracting in the sub-contracting.

The IWA said its 16-man negotiating team, speaking for some 27,000 coast lumber workers, made nine contract demands headed by a 25-cent an hour wage increase, three weeks additional paid vacations and, double rate for all overtime.

Most High-Rise Parking In 'Depths' of Oak Bay

A recommendation that a new building would add to the cost of minimum of 70 per cent of the apartment building. Council tenant car parking space be provided underground in future high-rise apartments will be made to council by Oak Bay zoning and development planning committee.

"We want top-flight developments or nothing," he said.

Committee will also recommend outside parking be limited to one-quarter of the building site and no carports be allowed.

The idea of high-rise apartments is to create open spaces," said Coun. Fred Robinson. "We don't want them cluttered up with un-

Drug Case 'Suspicion'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Defence lawyer H. A. D. Oliver claimed Wednesday Crown evidence in a drug conspiracy case is nothing more than a "clump of snapper."

He contended police evidence of days of observation of drug caches and meetings was not sufficient to prove the crown's case.

Approval in principle has been given a plan to purchase a 22-acre area in the vicinity of Cedar Hill Cross Road by Oak Bay zoning committee.

Thirteen acres of the area, owned by the Hudson's Bay Co., would be used for playing fields.

Balance of the property, bounded by Victoria Riding Academy and Uplands golf course, would consist of two two-acre church sites and a

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

There are some devotees of the folk song who claim Theodore Bikel sings them better than anyone. Their high notes come Tuesday.

Bikel, internationally-known actor and folk-singer, appears for 80 minutes on channel 2 starting at 9 p.m. Tuesday in One Night Stand, a collection of the folk music of many lands.

Bikel speaks six languages and sings in 15. With the help of Ray Bogoslov on guitar, he sings love songs, gypsy songs and work songs.

It shapes up as quite a show, and young students of the guitar might do well to note that Bogoslov never wiggles his hips.

critic Mrs. Iris Uhthoff is well known to most followers of the arts in this city to need an introduction. But since she has neither exhibited nor taught here for nearly a decade, there must be a young generation of gallery-goers to whom it will come as a pleasant revelation to learn that for a number of years Mrs. Uhthoff directed a school of art here that held high standing in western Canada. She has also been one of the really key figures in the growth of the gallery movement since its inception more than 15 years ago, being among the very few of whom it can be said that but for their knowledge and countless hours of devoted work the movement might have faltered and died.

Devotion to the gallery's welfare at the expense of her own time in which to paint has, in fact, been one of the chief reasons why the current exhibition at the gallery is her first in many years.

To the young generation, who also may not know that Mrs. Uhthoff is a Fellow of Britain's prestigious Royal Society of Arts and a member of the B.C. Society of artists, this extensive display of oils, watercolors, gouaches and drawings will likewise come as a stimulating revelation.

For during these years in which she has withdrawn from local exhibitions, she has searched, explored, experimented, and thought deeply about painting. She has established new directions in her work.

Perhaps it is well to start with the black chalk study Old Man. This at once establishes her authority as a draftsman in the traditional sense. It has both strength and sensitivity and masters with ease problems of portraiture.

From there one turns to the free drawings of forests in which the artist stresses the organic growth of trees, largely through linear rhythms. These stylized forms lead in turn to the oils and gouaches, which though varying approach, arrive in some instances at a stage of abstraction from which almost all evidences of the visible world have disappeared.

The richly textured and lovely gouaches called Oyster Shells is one of the finest of these. Here, as in the densely textured oil, Queer Fish, line defining the marine forms floats freely over open areas of color.

There is a series of paintings evolved from an identical subject (a view of rooftops seen through bare trees) which will well repay the study of anyone interested in an artist's basic approach to the given forms of the visible world.

The most important of these is Suburbia, an oil painting which has been purchased by the Greater Victoria Teachers Association and presented to Victoria University. Here a handsomely ordered network of black lines plays over a textured ground of dry scumbles, producing a most satisfying oil surface and one that is rich in color nuances.

There are more direct works, too, in which the artist has taken fewer liberties with the subject-matter. A gouache After Snow is one of the

Queen, Jackie Find Common Problems

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy lunched with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace yesterday and talked about the things they have in common — busy husbands, growing children, huge houses and fast horses.

She called the experience "so gracious" and "wonderful."

MINK HAT

America's first lady — a pretty picture for a spring day in a suit of cherry red wool and a mink hat — left the palace filled with admiration at the Queen's costume and delighted at the chance of renewing a friendship that started at a state dinner in the same room last June.

DON'T KNOW

"Her Majesty was so gracious to invite me to lunch. I don't know what to say," said Mrs. Kennedy. "It was a wonderful lunch."

Did You Talk About India?

"She asked a question," said Mrs. Kennedy, who arrived here Monday from a 15-day tour of India and Pakistan.

CONDUCTED TOUR

She said "I don't know" in reply to another question on whether the Queen had watched the BBC television broadcast the previous night of her conducted tour of the White House.

Mrs. Kennedy leaves by jet this morning for Washington. Other members of the lunch-on party were Prime Minister and Lady Macmillan, U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. David Bruce, the Duke of Devonshire, who is related to the Kennedys by marriage, Sir

Asthma Case Allergic To His Wife

LONDON—A British doctor has reported the case of a patient who has reported asthma at 45 because he was "allergic to his wife." Writing in the British Medical Association's publication Family Doctor, Dr. Michael O'Donnell said the wife was a "formidable and overpowering lady."

The cause of asthma was a mystery to doctors. All attempts to find a physical cause failed.

It was only when his wife died, Dr. O'Donnell said, that the asthma attacks stopped.

GLASGOW—Bus passenger John Carlin, 21, wasn't wearing his trousers. The bus driver drove to the nearest police station, where the trouserless customer was charged with disorderly conduct.

Pleading guilty in court, Carlin said he had been having some whisky and when he got on the bus his belt snapped. "In my condition I was unable to hold my pants up," he explained. "So I thought the best thing to do was take them all the way off and fold them to protect the creases." The court fined him £1.

WASHINGTON—U.S. scientist Dr. Edward Teller told a House space subcommittee the United States must control the moon for its own security.

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Hugh Auchincloss, step-brother of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, was divorced by his wife on grounds of mental cruelty.

LONDON—The Duke of Edinburgh said he hoped to spend 10 days in Australia after he opens the Empire Games in Perth, Australia, next November.

WESTGATE-ON-SEA, England—Mary Harding began drawing her retirement pension in 1907 when illness forced her out of her post office job.

Today Miss Harding, aged 100, is still drawing her pension. Post Office Director Sir Ronald German sent congratulations.

LONDON—War Secretary John Profumo launched a counter-attack against Viscount Montgomery's attack on army training. "I should like to analyze his services. Based on a five-day week, Monty, in his last 21 years' service, spent six months shaving, three and a half years eating and something like six years telling other people what to do."

LONDON—Screen comedian Charlie Chaplin, 72, who could neither read nor write as a youth, has been nominated for an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters at Oxford University.

LOS ANGELES—Mrs. Ruth Waldron, 19, was awakened by a gunshot and found a middle finger streaming blood.

The shot came from a pistol she kept under her pillow for protection, which she had set off in her sleep.

BERLIN—Gen. Maxwell Taylor, President Kennedy's military adviser, called Soviet harassment of Berlin's air lanes "senseless, pointless non-sense."

Steel Pact Near

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Negotiators were reported to have reached basic agreement Wednesday on a two-year steel industry-labor contract on terms described as consistent with President Kennedy's call for continued wage-price stability.

IV 5-2855 BARBER SYRT 625 FORT STREET

KANSAS CITY, Kan.—
Judge Arthur Stanley ordered army deserter George Grammer, charged with passing nuclear and missile secrets to the Russians, confined for mental examination.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—
Gouverneur Edmund Brown and former vice-president Richard Nixon filed formal notices seeking their parties' nominations for governor.

Nixon called Democrat Brown "a wobbly, weak-kneed governor."

Brown, seeking re-election, said "It appears that every time I run for office the opposition is negligible."

Duncan Court 6-Year Chant: No Comment

By PETER BRUTON

Opposing leader Robert Strachan last night failed, for the sixth year in a row to elicit any information as to plans for the long-promised new courthouse for Duncan.

Works Minister W. N. Chant would only say:

That's a far cry from what the minister promised a Duncan audience during the 1956 provincial election time.

He pledged that an actual start on construction of a new courthouse would begin within 12 months of that date and he said Mr. Strachan—the member for the Cowichan-Newcastle riding—had been derailed in his duty for not bothering to ask the government for its plans in preceding sessions.

BRAVENT MISSED

"I haven't missed asking one year since," said Mr. Strachan yesterday.

The minister wouldn't reply to Mr. Strachan despite the fact that question after question was asked him.

"Isn't any work been done?" begged Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Chant conferred with an aide.

CAME TO RESCUE

"Yes," he said. "We improved the parking facilities."

Premier Bennett then came to the rescue of his floundering minister.

"No member of this House should try to put a minister on the spot," said the premier. "He can advocate something but he should not try to force a commitment."

MADE A COMMITMENT

"I'm merely asking him to fulfill a commitment he made in 1956," said the opposition leader. "He's already made the commitment—he made it six years ago."

Mr. Strachan again took up the matter after the supper adjournment.

SHOCKING

"What about a courthouse?" "No more comments," said the minister.

"Well, would you just repeat what you said before?"

"I can't remember what I said," was the reply.

"I think this display by the minister is absolutely shocking," Mr. Strachan stormed.

Father's Helping Hand Put Police on Heels

There are days, thinks Archie Logan of 815 Heywood, when things just don't turn out right.

Monday evening he was down in town after work, so decided to pick up his son David when the boy ended a Wolf Cub session on Dallas Road.

BITES TO EAT

The boys were still in when Archie arrived, but he saw David's bicycle and put it in the trunk of his car. Then he realized he had some time left, so went to a drive-in for a bite to eat.

When he returned, he met young David on the street, so the boy's bike was in the car and to top it, telephoned a report to city police.

"Good fishing up there," cracked Mr. Chant.

"What about a courthouse?" "No more comments," said the minister.

"Well, would you just repeat what you said before?"

"I can't remember what I said," was the reply.

"I think this display by the minister is absolutely shocking," Mr. Strachan stormed.

Choked Bride 'Stole My Son'

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Clementina Corona has been charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation March 17 of her 19-year-old daughter-in-law. Police said she felt the younger woman had "stolen her son."

A man identified as John Griffith, 42, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., admitted that he helped commit the crime and he was booked on the same charge, police said.

The victim, Mrs. Elizabeth Corona, was found lying on the floor of her apartment by her husband, James, 21.

District Attorney Leonard Rubenfeld said the older Mrs. Corona had approached Griffith on March 9 and asked if he wanted to make a "quick" $1,000.

Rubenfeld said the mother told Griffith she wanted to get rid of her daughter-in-law because "she took her son away." On the appointed night, Griffith allegedly entered the victim's seventh-floor apartment through a door that was left ajar by the mother-in-law. A struggle ensued and the mother-in-law helped Griffith strangle her, he said.

Assets Would Vanish

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Electric assets could be used to absorb the debts of the government's B.C. Power Commission if the planned merger of the two goes ahead, British Columbia Court of Appeal was told Wednesday.

Douglas McK. Brown, counsel for B.C. Power Corporation in its battle to have the expropriation of BCE by the government ruled invalid, said that the merger could make worthless any court ruling that the takeover was illegal.

DISAPPEAR

He said that could mean that the BCE assets would "disappear" in the merger so that the government, even if it was ordered to hand back the BCE to B.C. Power would have nothing to hand back.

B.C. Power is opposing an appeal by BCE and the attorney-general against last week's Supreme Court ruling that a receiver should be appointed to protect BCE assets until present lawsuits are settled.

Sweepstakes

'Dream' Led To Ticket

Duncan carpenter Albert Collie is the latest Vancouver Islander identified as having a chance at Irish sweepstakes riches on the Grand National sweepstakes Saturday.

Mr. Collie, 36, McDonald, who is cheering for Hoffmeyer, disclosed yesterday he bought the ticket after his daughter, Anna, 14, dreamed he won the sweepstakes.

Eighteen Islanders, 12 of them from Victoria, still are in the running for the big money after the final scratch list was issued yesterday.

Eddie Locked In Hospital Paper Says

EDDIE FISHER

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Daily News says singer Eddie Fisher has suffered a nervous breakdown and "is a patient behind locked doors in a private minimum psychiatric hospital."

The newspaper says the prospect of divorce (from actress Elizabeth Taylor) proved too much for the young singer.

Reports of a breakup in the marriage have been denied.

Imprisoned Suburb Unlocked by French

ALGIERS (AP) — French authorities said, Wednesday night the 50,000 residents of the European rightist stronghold of Bab el Oued will be free to leave their homes this morning for the first time in six days.

The residents, many of them fanatical followers of the Secret Army Organization, have been virtually imprisoned in their homes since a battle between French forces and Secret Army commandos on Friday.

Duncan Court 6-Year Chant: No Comment

By PETER BRUTON

Works Minister W. N. Chant would only say:

That's a far cry from what the minister promised a Duncan audience during the 1956 provincial election time.

He pledged that an actual start on construction of a new courthouse would begin within 12 months of that date and he said Mr. Strachan—the member for the Cowichan-Newcastle riding—had been derelict in his duty for not bothering to ask the government for its plans in preceding sessions.

MAVENS MISSED

"I haven't missed asking one year since," said Mr. Strachan yesterday.

The minister wouldn't reply to Mr. Strachan despite the fact that question after question was asked him.

"Isn't any work been done?" begged Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Chant conferred with an aide.

CAME TO RESCUE

"Yes," he said. "We improved the parking facilities."

Premier Bennett then came to the rescue of his floundering minister.

"No member of this House should try to put a minister on the spot," said the premier. "He can advocate something but he should not try to force a commitment."

MADE COMMITMENT

"I'm merely asking him to fulfill a commitment he made in 1956," said the opposition leader. "He's already made the commitment—he made it six years ago."

Mr. Strachan again took up the matter after the supper adjournment.

"Good fishing up there," chuckled Mr. Chant.

SHOCKING

"What about a courthouse?"

"No more comments," said the minister.

"Well, would you just repeat what you said before?"

"I can't remember what I said," was the reply.

"I think this display by the minister is absolutely shocking," Mr. Strachan stormed. "It's absolutely reprehensible. He doesn't deserve his salary."

Arrest of Leaders Hinted As Syria Swings to Left

DAMASCUS (AP)—The army said Wednesday night land reform reversals, pork barrel tactics and infiltration of the government by imperialist agents forced the coup that has placed Syria under military rule for the second time in six months.

There was a hint that at least some members of President Nasser's conservative regime, deposed early Wednesday in an uprising that Radio Damascus called bloodless, were under arrest.

The high command said executives and conspirators responsible for the deviation from the Sept. 26 uprising's objectives and aspirations were being referred to trial.

Syria's 5,000,000 people were warned to remain calm, that force would be used to crush any disturbance.

A revolt by the armed forces severed Syrian ties with President Nasser's United Arab Republic last September.

The army's high command reiterated that its objectives include "the establishment of constructive Arab socialism" at home and in foreign affairs, alignment combined with Arab unity on a clear basis. "especially with beloved Egypt and brotherly Iraq."

Red Pact Backed

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Minister Home gave his backing Wednesday to a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Communist Warsaw pact countries.

Such a non-aggression pact might be the subject of discussion at a future summit conference, he said in a foreign policy debate in the House of Lords.

Long Session Ends Today

The nine-week legislature session, longest in two decades, will end at 8 p.m. today with prorogation by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes. Premier Bennett said last night. Last night's sitting ended shortly before midnight. MLAs will clean up opposition motions and bills at 2 p.m. today.

The minister wouldn't reply to Mr. Strachan despite the fact that question after question was asked him.

"Isn't any work been done?" begged Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Chant conferred with an aide.

"I think this display by the minister is absolutely shocking," Mr. Strachan stormed. "It's absolutely reprehensible. He doesn't deserve his salary."

There are days, thinks Archie Logan of 805 Heywood, when things just don't turn out right.

Monday evening he was delayed in town after work, so decided to pick up his son David when the boy ended a Wolf Cub session on Dallas Road.

The boys were still in when Archie arrived, but he saw David's bicycle and put it in the trunk of his car. Then he realized he had some time left, so went to a drive-in for a bite to eat.

When he returned, he met young David on the street, told the boy his bike was in the car and to hop in.

"Oh, dad!" David exclaimed, "the police are looking for you!"

One of the other Cubs who had been looking out the Cub hall window told the Cubmaster a man in a "big green car" had just put a bicycle in his car and driven away.

The Cubmaster found out which bike was missing and telephoned a report to city police.

"Education shouldn't stop with a BA. It just begins there."

There are days, thinks Archie Logan of 805 Heywood, when things just don't turn out right.
